

Attention Students and Early Career Scientists!

The ASM Vic Branch is proud to present

Career Pathways for Scientists

Are you a student or early career scientist interested to know more about the diverse career paths available to you? The ASM Victorian Branch is proud to present an evening of opportunity. The event will include presentations by 4 members of the scientific community who have taken different paths after completing their studies (including academic research, industry and teaching). Come along and be inspired. Following the presentations, you will have the valuable opportunity to network with both the presenters and your peers, in a break-out session including dinner.

Confirmed Speakers:

- Prof Ben Marsland (PhD) – Lab Head, Department of Immunology and Pathology, Monash University
- A/Prof Catherine Satzke (PhD) – Lab Head, Pneumococcal Vaccines, Murdoch Children's Research Institute
- Dr Samantha Byrne (BDS, PhD, GCUT) - Lecturer, Melbourne Dental School, University of Melbourne
- Dr Sanja Aracic (PhD) – Senior Research Officer, Affinity Bio

When: Tuesday 16th April 2019. Arrive from 6.00pm. Panel presentations begin 6.30pm.

Where: City of Melbourne Bowls Club, Flagstaff Gardens, Dudley Street, West Melbourne,

Google maps: <http://goo.gl/maps/1ZffP>

Cost: Free for ASM members, $10 for non-members (students and early career scientists) Includes pizza (dietary requirements will be accommodated where possible) and beverages. Non-members will have the opportunity to join the ASM on the night at a reduced rate.

Register <https://www.trybooking.com/BBYTM>

This session is limited so please RSVP by 5pm Sunday 14th April 2019.

Please contact Jacqueline Heath (jhea@unimelb.edu.au) or Lauren Zavan (lazavan@students.latrobe.edu.au) for more information.